Dear Ms. McMahon:

Again this year we are requesting your cooperation in making food stamp certification offices aware that they are authorized to confirm individual households' participation in the Food Stamp Program for school officials who request such information.

Starting with this school year, households that provide a food stamp case number on the school meal application will be classified as eligible for free school meals. However, school officials are required to verify the receipt of food stamps for one-half of 1 percent (0.5 percent) of these households. Some school districts reported that last year their local food stamp offices were not aware that they could confirm individual households' participation in the Food Stamp Program for school officials and they refused to do so. The Food Stamp Application Privacy Act statement has been amended to allow this information to be provided to officials verifying school meal eligibility in accordance with Section 169 of Public Law 97-253.

We ask that your local offices be informed that they are authorized to release information to school districts verifying households' food stamp eligibility status. This information is used expressly for the verification of eligibility for school meals and prompt release will facilitate the process for recipients and school officials. The required sample size for the food stamp population is so limited that it should impose a minimal burden upon the food stamp staff. In most school districts we envision the school sending a list of less than five names and food stamp case numbers to the certification office for confirmation of eligibility.

Thank you for your cooperation. Please contact the Regional Family Nutrition Program staff at (415) 556-8277 if questions arise.

Sincerely,

R. HICKS ELMORE
